NEWS SUMMARY.

-Gold closed in New York yesterday at 1384 -Cotton closed in New York steady, with a moderate business. Sales 1500 bales at 25c. -At Liverpool Cotton closed quiet and steady. Uplands 101d. -The American silver coins, which people so rarely see, are circulating in such great numbers in Canada that they are a drug in the market. $7,000,000 of these coins are now circulating in Canada, and the Canadians are anxious to get rid of them, and impose a duty of 15 per cent. on further importations.

Stanton has issued orders requiring troops in Washington to be in readiness to move at a moment's notice, while forty army wagons, to transport supplies, are ordered to be kept available. This redoubtable array is supposed to be intended for the defence of the War Office against Mosby's mythic guerillas from Virginia.

-An important case came before Judge Hauptman and a jury in Morrisania, New York, on Thursday. Henry B. Dawson brought a suit against three members of the Morrisania Bricklayers' and Plasterers' Protective Union, for combining to prevent his son from learning the trade of a brick mason with Peter R. Dunham, a master mason. The complaint alleges that Dunham discharged the boy because the defendants refused to work for him of $700 were claimed. Five dollars and costs were recovered, but the case will be taken before the higher courts on appeal. There it will be decided whether the trades' unions have a right to make rules that will prevent a boy from learning a trade unless he complies with such rules as are laid down by the societies. The case is important, and the result will be watched with interest.

-A Washington telegram of Tuesday night says the bill which passed in Congress on Friday last, intended to prevent appeals in certain cases to the United States Supreme Court, was delivered to the President at 7 o'clock in lowed the President for holding a bill will expire at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening the 25th instant. It is well understood that the bill will be vetoed, but it is not likely that the President will give the subject his undivided attention until his answer in impeachment shall have been presented in the Senate; so that the veto message can scarcely be sent to Congress until the McArdle case shall have been decided. This decision is expected on Monday next; but even should the decision not be rendered until after the bill above referred to becomes a law, it is the opinion of reputable lawyers that the McArdle case cannot has already obtained jurisdiction of the cause, tution and the laws as they existed when jurisdiction of the case was acquired.

-Mr. Donald McKay, the well-known ship builder, has written a letter upon the depression in the shipping interest, which should be scattered broadcast over the country as an evidence of some of the mischief which has been seven years. So few American vessels have been built of recent years that the average age of each vessel is ten years, and the trade once done by them has passed to those of other nations, particularly of Great Britain. Among the statements made in the letter is the following: "I have been endeavoring for several weeks, and without success, to find a sufficient number of shipbuilders to sign a call for s meeting of discussion, and the feeling among those I saw, was-they had given shipbuilding up, and did not expect to ever lay any more keels. Most of these gentlemen have built thousands of tons of shipping and employed thousands of men, and are well known to the mercantile community. Within a circuit of five miles I can count twenty shipbuilding firms who are now idle, and have been since the war, and most of them built from two to four ships annually before the war." -It was for a long time the common con_ clusion among astronomers that the moon was without any atmosphere and destitute of water, and that, consequently, neither animal nor vegetable life could be supported on its surface. But several eminent modern astronomers have maintained the moon has an atmos phere, though of a very limited extent. And quite recently, Mr. Schawbe, a German astronomical professor, thinks he has discovered aigns of vegetation on the surface of our satellite. It is well known that there are certain dark lines or scratches, as they appear, extending across the slopes of the highest mountains in the moon. These have been variously explained, some regarding them as the beds of dried-up streams; others as the channels left by torrents of lava; others as having some other origin. Professor Schawbe claimed to have discovered in these lines a greenish color; which appears at certain seasons, lasts a few months, and then disappears. He therefore regards those lines as belts of vegetation If his observations should be decisively confirmed by those of other astronomers, it will settle the question that the moon has both air and water, and will therefore remove any presumption against the existence of animal life on its surface. -Yesterday we reported the news of the elopement of Professor Anderson's wife with a man named Norris, and the telegraphic statement that Anderson had killed his child and admirer of America; and he may possibly committed suicide at Covington, Ky. By later advices, it appears that Professor Anderson is not the "dead duck" that the telegraph made him out to be. The message was only a ruse to decoy the happy "birds" into the hands of the "fowler," and it did. The guilty "twain" took the back track, and at Middleton O., behold! the unfortunate husband who had (by report) murdered his little child and blown out his own brains, appeared before the astonished couple, and took a seat in the omnibus opposite them. The scene can be better imagined than described. Suffice that the Professor with an eye to the "finances" of the lately dissolved "firm," directed the Professor's would-be successor to fork over what stamps he might have belonging to the late Mr. A., whereupon, as report hath it, he shell-have been quite satisfied with the blood already shed, as he did not proceed to blow out the brains of the man who had run away with his wife. John Norris, or "Johnny," as he is called by his chums, is from Williamsport, Pa. He has been travelling with Anderson for several years. Johnny is rather inclined to fast life, and managed to persuade Mrs. Anderson and $3500 more of her husband's personal property to abandon the fortunes of the handsome showman. Mrs. Anderson is quite good looking and young. She appeared greatly dejected when the news reached her of the death of husband and child, and as she returned on her way East she was a forlorn object. She is cast off by her husband, and has been abandoned by the graceless scamp that lured her away.

The "Rebellion" in Japan.

By the last steamer from Aspinwall w have details of the progress of the revolution in Japan, and these are not without a moral which the politicians at Washington might profit by, if they would.

The supreme power of the Empire of Japan is lodged, nominally, in the Mikado, who is a hereditary monarch, and, like the sovereign of Great Britain, is also the titular head of the national church. But the real power has been wielded under a constitution adopted more than two centuries ago, by an officer styled the Tycoon or Shagoon. The office of Tycoon is hereditary, and has remained, almost since its establishment, in the Tokugawa family, Stotsbashi Prince of Mito, the late Tycoon, being the head of the junior branch of that house. The Tycoonate was originally a kind of war department, but the Tycoon's position was in many respects analogous to that of the Maires du Palais, under the Merovingian dynasty. These, as all readers of French history know, eventually usurped the kingly office, established themselves upon the throne, and founded the Carlovingian dynasty. Something of the same game was being worked out in Japan,-though upon that point our information is not as clear as it might be-and this aroused the jealousy unless he did so, and damages to the amount of the great nobles, the Daimios as they are styled, who formed a combination for the purpose of putting down the Tycoon, or, at all events of restraining his power within reasonable limits. This combination is known in Japan as the Southern Confederation, and its head and front was a noble named CHIOSIU. The Southern Confederates who, in the name of the Mikado, were solemnly proclaimed rebels, resorted to arms in vindication of their cause, and a fierce and bloody war was waged between the contending parties. In July the evening of that day, and consequently the last, Stotsbashi, who had but recently constitutional ten days, excluding Sundays, al- succeeded to the Tycoonate, and who is unquestionably a sagacious statesman and a man of great administrative ability, offered liberal terms of peace to the rebels. These were accepted, and the difficulties were in process of amicable adjustment, when a fresh cause of disagreement arose which renewed acts of hostility. The new grievance added to the list of complaints put forth by the rebellious Daimios was this. The treaty negotiated by STOTSBASHI with the foreign powers provided be affected by this law, for the Supreme Court | for the opening of those ports only which were under the special control of the STREET, arew doors north of Queen. and must proceed to decide it upon the consti- Tycoon; it was to him alone, then, that the profits of the foreign trade would enure. Now the Daimios were opposed to having any intercourse at all with foreigners; but if the opening of the ports to foreigners was to be viewed as an inevitable necessity, they argued that they too had a right to a wrought by the national legislation of the past share in the profits, and that consequently they ought to be allowed to open their ports. Stotsbashi refused to agree to this, and the Confederates thereupon broke off the negotiations, and prepared to resume hostilities. Success attended their efforts. In the eginning of January they made a successful raid upon the royal palace, captured the Mikado, and compelled him-he is a mere boy of fifteen-to sign a decree, not only dismissing Stotsbashi and abolishing the Tycoonate, but depriving the Tycoon of all his titles as one of the nobility of the country. But STOTSBASHI was not to be killed off on paper. He still retained control of the army, and was looked up to by the great body of the people as their ruler. So he shut himself up in his castle at Osaca. and bade defiance to the Confederates. These now put forth their ultimatum and their demands seem not unreasonable. They require that the Mikado shall resume the executive power, that the Tycoonate shall be reduced to its original dimensions of a mere war department, and that the affairs of the nation shall be managed by a cabinet of Daimios, in which they are willing to give Stotsbashi a seat. Accounts differ as to the action taken by this Japanese Stanton,-we beg Stotsbashi's pardon for so unsavory a comparison,-in regard to the demands of the rebellious Confederates. One version has it that, like his American prototype, he remains fortified in his stronghold, seemingly master of the situation. The Japanese Times, on the contrary, states that he has gracefully accepted his defeat, resigned the office he could no longer fill with advantage to his people, and given in his adhesion to the new order of things. This is what, as a nobleman and a gentleman, he should do; and we shall not be at all surprised to learn by the next mail, that the Times was right. But it cannot be denied that Stotsbashi is an be deluded into the belief that her greatness is due to such statesmen and patriots as now rule the roast at Washington. In

Although the title of this novel is some what Braddonish, the reader is agreeably surprised on finding a simple picture of every day life-nothing stirring or exciting-and, what is still more remarkable in these wonderful times of ours, nothing in the least improbable in the whole book. ed out some $3500. homelike and genial, touching a chord of sympathy in every well-regulated mind. The heroine does not startle you with eyes shining with lurid light-no unhealthy white skin, yellow hair, and over red lips, reminding you of a lady-like ghoul, who mixed only among the very best dead. Such is the fashionable heroine of the day; but such is not the one chosen in the book before us. She is soft and feminine, a true type of a woman and of a loving wife, struggling with difficulties, filling her place in life nobly, and coming out conqueror at last. There is but little plot and few incidents, but the story is well sustained from the first page to the last. The style is pleasing, and the moral unexceptionable.

From John Russell we also have the reprints of the January issues of those sterling periodicals the "London Quarterly" and the "Edinburg Review"—both fully up to their usual standard of excellence.

Contains no inert or mineral materials.

The proper relative proportion of the ingredients in MAPES' SCPER-PHOSPHATE to meet the requirements of the Cotton crop on Georgia and South Carolina soils, is fully proved by the experience of planters who testified that wherever applied, even to land notes for rusting cotton, the disease is entirely corrected, and a healthy, rigorous growth produced. On the same land Peruvian Guano and other fertilizers have failed to secure a healthy growth.

worn from being planted in cotton from 1857 to 1867, with only one year's rest during that time, and notwithstanding the long continued cold and heavy rain, and gales during the spring and summer, about the first of September the crop on this field was estimated by some of our best judges to promise a yield of 180 to 200 pounds fine Sea Island Cotton Lint to the acre. Notwithstanding the ravages of the caterpillar, the first cotton picked was from the field on which MAPES' PHOSPHATE was used, and it has nade about 65 pounds to the acre, while no other manured land made over 45 pounds. Has used MAPES' PHOSPHATE on melons, potatoes and the garden with satisfactory results.

TROMAS S. SALTER, Washington County, Ga., reports that seventy-five pounds per acre on old land increased both the Cotton and the Corn three-fold. Considers it far more economical than Peruvian Dr. E. Parsons, Sandersville, Washington County

PLOUGHS, CORN MILLS

Has about doubled the Cotton and trebled the Corn. Has done better than Peruvian Guano per pound."

J. W. Scort, of same section, reports:

"That his crop manured with Peruvian Guano was far more effected by drought and excessive rains than where MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE was used. Shall use MAPES' in preference to any fertilizer he has seen used by his neighbors."

W. H. SPARES, Estouton, Ga., reports:

"On land about half covered with sedge, and which had not been cultivated in two years, when the manure was put on, badly manured, crop would yield two pounds where the unmanured would yiel i one." TAGE to try the fine variety of PLOUGHS made in BROWN'S TWISTED SHOVEL

B. B. HAMILTON, Americus, Ga., reports:
"Obtained the most satisfactory results from MAPLS' SUPER-PHOSPHATE, applying it as a top dressing. Considered to have had the best garden this year in Scuthwestern Georgia."
W. J. Andelson, Fort Valley, Ga., reports:
"MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE has doubled the These Ploughs are cheaper than any other now offer-

"MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE has doubled the crop of cotton in every case reported, and some report it has more than doubled their crop. On wheat and cats the results are very satisfactory."

D. A. WARNOCK, Beach Branch, S. C., reports:

"On land which always runted cotton, increased the crop twofold; as fine cotton as he has seen this year. Prevented rust. Four rows unmanured rusted in August. Everything the MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE was tried on did well. Cotton stood the cold weather in Spring; kept perfectly green.

the cold weather in Spring; kept perfectly green, and growed finely; has beat Peruvian Guano in his neighborhood. Believes it to be the BEST Manure now in use."

E. R. Lilles, Lilesville, Anson County, N. C., re-

"As compared with Peruvian Guano and Baugh's "As compared with Peruvian Guano and Bangh's Super-Phosphate, the result was decidedly in favor of MAPES' SUPHER-PHOSPHATE; attributed, beyond doubt, to the fact that the ravages of the rest were not, by a marked difference, so severe where it was applied as where the other manures were."

JAMES MOMEREN, Alston, S. C., reports:
"Used a ton of Peruvian, and found the result but one half as compared with those from MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE. Soil mostly sandy, with clay subsoil. Marked difference in the size of the boils, in favor of MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE. On Cotton plants the increased growth was about 100 per cent."

JOHN R. HAIR, Mims, S. C.

JOHN R. HAIR, Mims, S. C.:

"Cotton was more vigorous and healthy, and matured at least two weeks earlier where MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE was used as compared with other Ferthizers applied. MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE produced 100 pounds per acre more Cotton than Rhodes' Super-Phosphate, and 50 pounds per acre more than Soluble Pacific Guano. Same quantity of each, 150 pounds, used to the acre, cultivated in the same manner. MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE more than doubled the yield of Cotton."

R. S. VENNINO, Christ Church Partsh, S. C., repotts: ports:
"One application, 200 pounds MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE, per acre, made the cotton grow to the height of six feet, where it grew only two feet the year before. Considers MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE the best Fertilizer for SEA ISLAND COTTON, and would safely recommend it to all planters."

S. C. MEANS, Spartanburg, S. C., writes:

"Used 240 pounds per acre, applied May 18th. Can safely say never saw a more vigorous growth impart ed to cotton from the use of any manure. Satisfied the use of MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE pays hand-

Rev. W. A. MERRIWETHER, Valle Crucis, near Coumbia, S. C., reports:

"MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE has given perfect satisfaction, and that it permanently improves the soil. Has no hesitation in saying it is the special manure for the turnip and Irish potato."

P. C. PENDLETON, Valdoston, Ga., writes:

"MAPES' SUPER-PHOSPHATE has exceeded my most sanguine expectations. The effects of its use on Corn, Peas and Garden Vegetables was most marked. If it can be always kept up to the standard it must take the preference of all fertilizers in M. B. Husten, Quitman, Ga., reports: "Applied at the rate of 150 pounds per acre upon every alternate four rows. The result was truly actonishing. The manured rows yielded fully double
